1 The Bauhaus-influenced ceramicist Hedwig Bollhagen's goal 'was to make simple, functional and timeless pieces'. Those wares continue to be made just as they were when she was at the helm of HB-Werkstätten für Keramik near Berlin, along with designs by the likes of Werner Burri (left). Vases from £54 approx. Ring 00 49 330 439 800, or visit hedwig-bollhagen.de.

2 Land yourself a powder-coated-metal 'Sea Change' table lamp by Jocelyn Burton for Hector Finch and you will be swimming with some illustrious fish: the Chelsea Arts Club, V&A and British Museum are all home to the artist's creations. Available in four colours for £810. Ring 020 7731 8886, or visit hectorfinch.com.

3 The Maresca sisters (Vol Dec 2017) have a passion for Modern Brazilian tapestries, which has surfaced in the hand-painted 'Raw' wallcovering (available in ten colourways; £379 per sq m) they have created in collaboration with Fromental. Ring 020 3410 2000, or visit fromental.co.uk.

4 What do two Ecuadoreans with shared interests in needlecraft and design do on finding themselves living in Egypt? Create chic cotton goods, naturally!

Margarita Andrade and Goya Gallagher, the duo behind Malaika, also financially empower women by offering them free embroidery training as well as the option to work at home. Shown: 'Shashiko' napkin (£17 approx each) and 'Tally' tablecloth (£302 approx). Ring 00 49 30 80 49 90 42, or visit malaikalinens.com.
